

The 3-6-3 Double Play

By Christopher Chestnut
July 2, 2008

Definitions

3-6-3 Double Play – the first baseman fields a ground ball and throws to the shortstop to retire the runner on first. The shortstop returns the throw to the first baseman to retire the batter/runner.

Opportunity – all situations with a runner on first (additional runners may be on second and/or third), less than two outs, and a ground ball fielded by the first baseman. This excludes line drives and pop-ups, but includes bunted grounders. In addition to the double play, other play results include base hits, errors, or some combination of runners retired.

The available Retrosheet data includes the National League for 1911, 1921, 1922, and 1953 and the American and National Leagues for 1954-2007.

Additional data was used from www.mlb.com and www.baseball-reference.com.

Summary

The available data shows 4,538 3-6-3 double plays turned by 1,297 different first basemen in 72,097 opportunities.

The overall percentage of 3-6-3 double plays turned is 6.29%. Left-handed first basemen converted 6.51% (1,784 out of 27,387) while right-handers converted 6.16% (2,754 of 44,710).

Gil Hodges holds the single season record for most opportunities with 117 in 1954 (he converted six). Albert Pujols has converted the most in a single season, with 13 in 2007 (in 58 opportunities). The most opportunities in a season without turning a 3-6-3 is 69, by Dee Fondy in 1953.

Don Mattingly and George Scott have had the most seasons (4) leading the majors in the most 3-6-3 double plays turned. John Mayberry and Pujols led the majors in three seasons and eleven players have led in two seasons.

At the other end of the spectrum Orlando Cepeda has had the most seasons (4) leading the majors in opportunities without a 3-6-3 double play. Steve Garvey and Mark Grace led in three seasons and four players have led in two seasons.

Looking at career totals, Keith Hernandez and Mattingly have converted the most, with 71 each (Hernandez had 738 opportunities and Mattingly 482). Jeff Bagwell had the most opportunities with 785 (converting 51). Lee Thomas has the distinction of the most career opportunities without turning the 3-6-3 – 138.

Pujols has converted the highest percentage of double plays, 16.67% (based on a minimum of 200 opportunities). Cepeda is at the bottom of the list, with only 1.22% of opportunities converted.
